Directions to the Center for Renaissance and Baroque Studies

From the Student Union / Union Parking Garage

From the front door of the Student Union, with the building to your back, walk straight so that you eventually come upon the “Mall” (open green area). Across the Mall is a large building called Francis Scott Key Hall. As you face the front of this building (your back to the Mall) start to go around it to the left. Go all the way around to the back of the building – which is actually the front of Taliaferro Hall. As you enter the front doors, follow the signs for the Writing Center in the basement. The Center for Renaissance and Baroque Studies is just down the hall from the writing center – room 0139.

From the Mowatt Lane Parking Garage

As you exit the garage, walk across the street and head straight on the walkway between the dormitories. Once you are behind one of the dining buildings (you’ll see a big loading dock), take a left, so that you pass by a convenience store. Keep walking straight and up the stairs...keep going straight and up until you see the columns of Taliaferro Hall in front of you. As you enter the front doors, follow the signs for the Writing Center in the basement. The Center for Renaissance and Baroque Studies is just down the hall from the writing center – room 0139.
