

Shakespeare Monologue
Competition
March 12, 2007
Imagination Stage

Imagination Stage and the Center for Renaissance & Baroque Studies would like to congratulate all the students who performed at the Monologue Competition on March 12, 2007. These students showed bravery, courage, and insight into the characters they chose to represent, and their appreciation for one another's work was evident in the comments they offered during the discussion that followed the performances.

Judges selected five stand-out performances but observed that students had grown enormously in the course of learning their monologues and that many of the performances were noteworthy.

Best Use of Costume & Props: Elisabeth Bloxam, Julia, Two Gentlemen of Verona

Best Understanding of Text: Helen Felker, Hermione, The Winter's Tale

Most Fully Realized and Connected to the Character: Adam Farqui, Caliban, The Tempest

Most Informed and Boldest Character Choice: Nick McGuire, Nick Bottom as Pyramus, Midsummer Night's Dream

Most Interesting Interpretation of Text: Joshua Greenwald, Hamlet, Hamlet
